

■ wedi SUBLINERS Are Making Headlines!

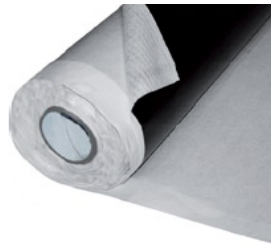

wedi holds the trifecta in sublining solutions for your challenging wet area and flooring installations. Our three subliners are engineered for specialized performance. Whether you need waterproofing, crack bridging or something in between, wedi offers a subliner for your project specifications.

1 wedi Subliner Dry & Flex PRO

Waterproofing, Crack Protection & Sound Reduction Membrane

This peel & stick underlayment does it all thanks to its integral waterproofing, crack-isolation and sound reduction characteristics.

It is 100% waterproof to protect subfloor from moisture damage and cracks due to movement and even provides tension compensation during abrupt temperature changes. It exceeds ANSI A 118.12 and ANSI 118.10-1999 criteria in testings and is ready for residential and commercial use, indoors or outside.

2 wedi Subliner Dry

Waterproofing and Crack Bridging

Need a waterproof, thin-layer, crack bridging subliner? This versatile solution is made of highly tear-resistant polyethylene film with dual-sided special fleece lamination for optimum connection to tile setting materials. It's great for residential and commercial use, inside or out, where waterproofing according to ANSI 118.10-1999 is required.

3 wedi Subliner Flex

Crack Protection Sheet Membrane

When crack isolation is the installation challenge, this reliable web crafted of strong fabric sheathing is the right solution. With its flexible construction, this subliner protects against cracks and provides tension reduction between tile or stone and subfloor in indoor applications. It's also the guard against cracks for renovations with low thickness measurements and is ideal for load-bearing and mixed subfloors.

Dear wedi Customer,
We introduced our innovative, high performance line of subliners a few months ago. Even in this challenging year, we're finding customers like you still want and need the best products possible to get your jobs done.

As a matter of fact, our three subliner membrane products are great for any installer or project manager who must stay on time and in budget. These versatile products provide all the high performance modern installations demand yet are very simple to work with while offering all the characteristics required.

Please include wedi subliners in your next project and then share your success stories!

As we enter the busy holiday season, let me take a moment to wish you and yours a very pleasant, peaceful season. We appreciate your partnership with us and find it a true gift to work with each and everyone of you!

Sincerely,
